1980 HATTER
Stetson University
Deland, Florida
Volume 59

Convocation signals the beginning of a new fall semester. Students, faculty, and administration assemble to renew their faith in the goals and philosophy of our University.

"Pro Deo et Veritate." The most familiar and significant symbol of Stetson is the seal bearing the school's motto, "For God and Truth." The philosophy of the University is based on the belief that it is not enough for a college graduate to be able to earn a good living. The graduate's education is incomplete if he has not also increased his capacity to enjoy a good and satisfying life.

Education is multifaceted. It varies in areas, as well as degrees. From music to math, from freshmen to faculty, and from study to sports, Stetson allows for constructive diversions.

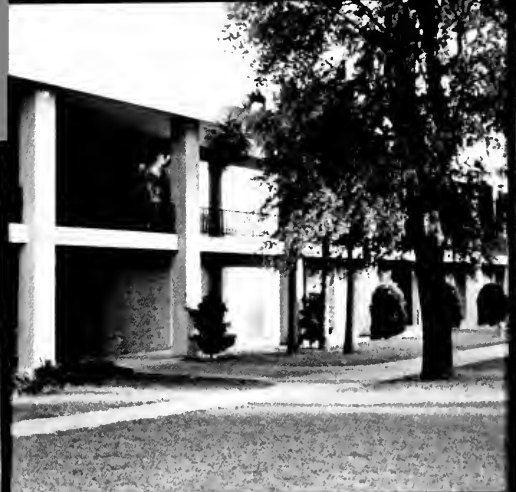

The Water Understands Civilization Well . . . Emerson

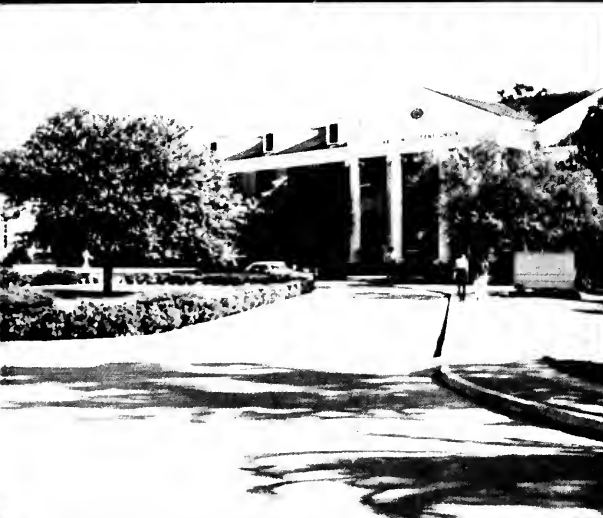

. . . And civilization is enriched at Stetson through education in the arts and sciences, and in the campus' social, political, and cultural complexity. These aspects of civilization are seen everywhere on the Stetson campus, but are greatly emphasized in the educational buildings such as Elizabeth Hall, which lodges the Religion, Philosophy, Speech and Theatre, Mathematics, and Political Science departments. Flagler Hall finds the student emerged in English, Psychology, and Sociology, while Sampson Hall is the home of the Foreign Language department and the art gallery. All of this enhances the beauty of Stetson's atmosphere, just as the sunlight enhances the beauty of the fountain.

There is no one typical Stetson student, but there are times when many students have the same interests. After their noon classes, a large number of students can be seen passing the Carlton Union Building headed for their mailboxes, the Commons, the Hat Rack, or the Book Store.

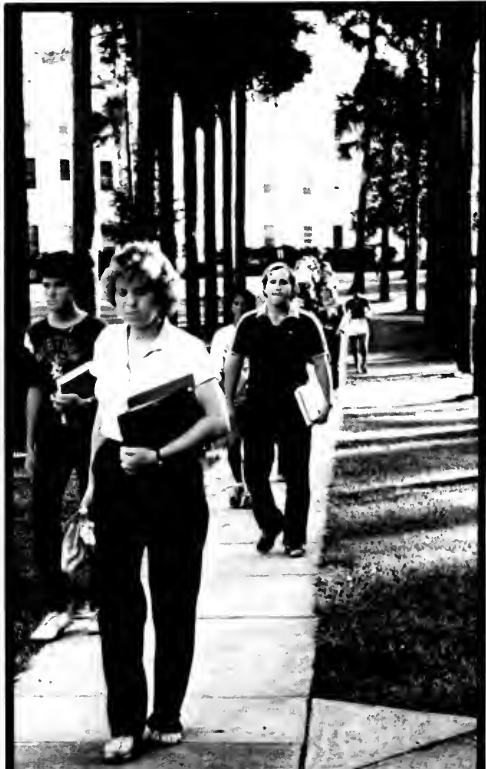

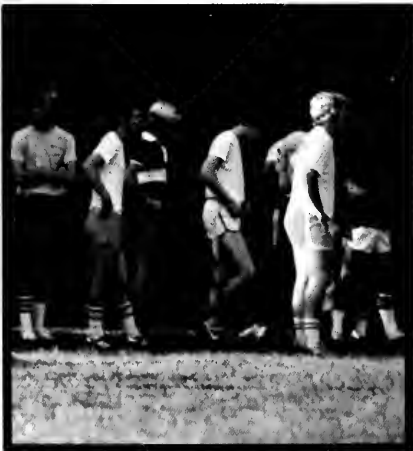

We spend much of our time moving from one place to another. We move from home. We move in at college. We move around campus. These changes allow us variety and growth. Ideally, changes in locale and changes in our attitudes should be steps up from wherever we've been.

Climbing is not easy and neither is it a short-lived endeavor. We should be continually ascending towards the next goal. Therefore, as we move from day to day, we should keep notice of our direction.

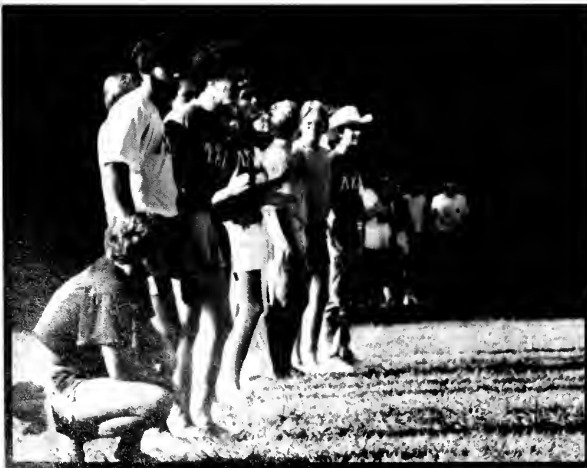

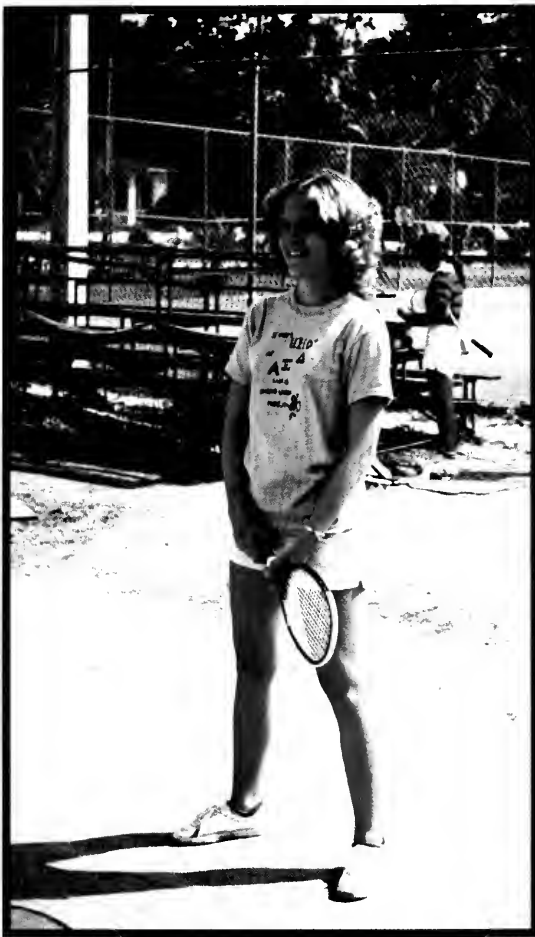

A short walk around Stetson campus is all that is needed to see the vast spray of student life that it houses. College is a time to reach out and broaden experiences and to develop new relationships with different acquaintances. Stetson offers this opportunity by the wide range of students it attracts from all over. Not only are there individuals from different parts of the state, but from various areas around the country and the world. Students from as far away as Germany and the Virgin Islands and as near as Debarry, all unite together to mix and share their ideas and beliefs, much like the fountain gently blends her waters into one.

Stetson's format encourages the student to become a well-rounded individual. In addition to the excellent academic program, there is also an emphasis placed on the need to become involved in the extra-curricular activities Stetson has to offer. There is a wide range of opportunities available to the student. Intercollegiate and intramural sports, student government, Greek organizations, and student publications, are examples of only a few of the numerous special interest groups Stetson presents to the students. Without these the student would still receive a good education, but would not be as enriched through the forming of friendships and the experiences of fulfilling activities. A student needs an effective combination of academic life and extra-curricular activities to secure the benefits of college life; Stetson provides everything necessary to accomplish this.

...and the fountain of youth under the tree of life. We are at the end of the journey, the beginning of the book. We have seen the end of the beginning of college life and the beginning of the end of college life and the beginning of the end of college life.

"And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely."

(Rev. 21:6)

POPE A. DUNCAN

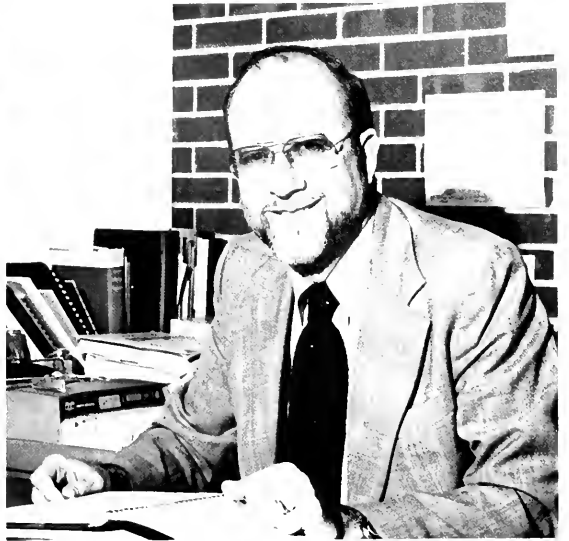

President
Stetson University

The year represented in this book is a segment taken out of time, but for each of us, more importantly, it is a segment taken out of lives. As these permit us to reflect upon this portion of life, I hope they will give pleasure, not pain. But in any case, they represent a year of you and of me — and of Stetson University, alma mater. One year of the 97 that she has lived. I hope that you are better because of her and that she is better because of you." Pope A. Duncan, President - Stetson University, 1980.

STUDENT LIFE

III

OUTLET

Margaritaville, according to Jimmy Buffet, can be anywhere you want it to be. For many Stetsonites, it was Gainesville, the night of October 19, 1979. They had spent five burned-out days in the Stetson book haze and at 8:00 in the Florida gym, Jimmy Buffet and the Coral Reefer Band played for an enthusiastic crowd. The result — a good time for everyone. Come Monday, for those attending, everything was all right and they can't wait to see him again.

Where Is Margaritaville?

Give The Gift Of LIFE

For the fifteenth running year, Tri-Delta Sorority and ROTC joined forces with the American Red Cross in a campus-wide blood drive. Students were asked to give up twenty minutes to one-half hour of their time to donate one pint of blood that may save someone's life. This year's turn-out of 233 donors came close to meeting the 300 pint goal set by ROTC and Tri-Delta co-chairpersons, John Lacey and Sue Overvold. Approximately 305 people made the effort to donate blood, but were unable to do so due to illness or due to medication they were taking at the time.

The American Red Cross provides a complete mobile unit to test "the medical health of persons willing to give blood."

ROTC members assisted the Red Cross in setting up the Stetson Room, which was used for the project. After they had given blood, donors were served refreshments by sisters of the Tri-Delta sorority.

A person can give blood every eight weeks as long as their overall medical health is good. After giving one pint of blood, the donor or any member of his family is eligible to receive one pint any time that particular year. After a donor has given eight pints, he or any member of his family is eligible to receive any amount of blood needed during their lifetime.

A spring blood drive was planned for February 25 and 26. So if you're chicken about giving blood, just think about what would happen if you needed it.

There is a movement at Stetson — moving off-campus. For various reasons, students choose to make a home for themselves in one of the many apartments or rental homes near the university. They prefer the larger living space, convenient use of kitchen, the at-home atmosphere, and the personal opportunities; while they accept new responsibilities for themselves, such as maintenance, rent, cleaning, and living costs.

Some students view the move as a well-timed transition between the security of college and the problems of a work-a-day world. Living off-campus, they say, will afford them insights into the inconveniences they will be facing in a few years. Still, inconveniences of on-campus living are cited by other students as initiative of the move. Visitation, noisy halls, waiting for a shower, and other mental obstacles mount making the move off-campus particularly appealing to some.

Off-campus living is a way of life at all universities large and small. No matter the policies, some students will always make it their policy to go off.

The final night of Greenfeather week, Saturday, featured a carnival. To open the festivities, many DeLand community parents brought their children dressed up as the Four Musketeers, little elephants, soldiers, witches, goblins, and a variety of other characters. These children were judged in a costume contest sponsored by the carnival co-chairpersons. Meanwhile, the many sororities and organizations set up their booths.

The first gambling casino ever seen on Stetson's campus was run by Phi Mu; Sigma Nu's traditional egg toss brought men out in full force for this smashing event. The Lambda Chi Alpha "honey girls" showed off their sexy bodies to several crowds during the evening. Many new booths such as Wesley House's JW's Bakery and Conrad Hall's Fortune telling booth proved to be helpful additions to the carnival.

1979 marked the silver anniversary of the Greenfeather tradition at Stetson University. Co-chairpersons overlooking the entire week's events were Carmel Bitondo and Ed Telson. Their goal to make this landmark a more memorable experience for all involved was two-fold. The first was to reach a goal of $12,000, a $3,000 increase over last year's goal, secondly, they wanted to make a bigger, better-planned, and more entertaining week. For eight full days, activities were carried out on various parts of the campus to raise money for charity. In order to make things run more smoothly, committees and co-persons were established for the various events.

By the last day of Greenfeather, pockets were lighter, the sidewalks in front of the Carlton Union Building were brighter, decorated with lively colors and designs, and traces of Greenfeather could be found everywhere. Certainly professors noted that students' thoughts had been in places other than in their studies during that week. Nonetheless, the students, faculty, workers, and community friends all ended up feeling truly satisfied after an enjoyable week of fun.

The evening was brought to a close with the announcement of the Miss Greenfeather Award. For several days, twenty six girls solicited charitable gifts from banks, churches, department stores and small shops within and outside of the DeLand Community, on behalf of Greenfeather. This event has traditionally been one of the great money-makers of Greenfeather week. Karen Schmidt, representing Alpha Kappa Psi National Business Fraternity, was crowned Miss Greenfeather 1979 by former Miss Greenfeather Karen Jackson.

O.K.

O.K., so we haven't pictured everyone who should be mentioned for being good people. That would have been impossible. Here are some nice guys who get special attention, because they have given special attention to others. Dr. Vedder afforded his classes opportunities to volunteer their time helping others and themselves. Jane Marlowe, stayed busy with Student Affairs and is pictured here with Al Rosenberg, yearbook representative, and Gary Rosenthal, president of the Stetson Hat factory; all very helpful in the making of this yearbook.

In Our Book.

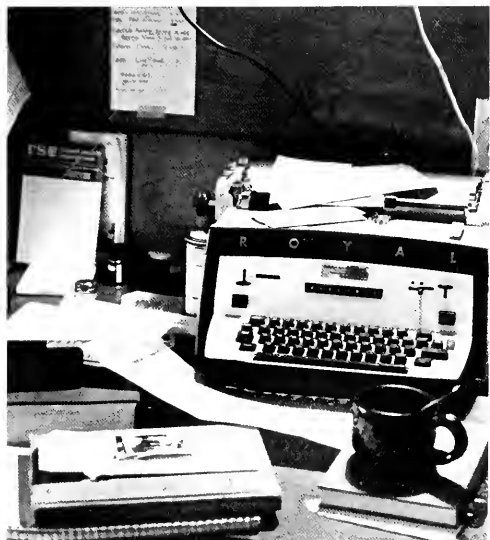

LTC Wehrle was integral in providing the yearbook staff a room in the ROTC building and was an extremely cooperative landlord. Rodney Ellis deserves a kiss for all the love and attention he has given to Stetson students. Thanks to these and all those nice people not mentioned.

The "Loco-Motion" of Facing

As finals week quickly approached, students felt the need for some lively diversions. The Student Union Board offered an outlet from study, at lunch on November 29, 1979. In addition to finals, what has become a tradition in entertainment at Stetson, is the traveling troubadors of Loco-Motion Circus. The magician-gymnastic-clowning of Loco-Motion delighted, once again, hundreds of Stetson students. Many stayed for the whole show, but for others, it was necessary to leave, as studying was of major concern in preparation for exams. Much tension was released through lunch and laughter. After the circus packed up and moved on, we were left to face finals.

Guitarist - singer Louise Dimicelli probably won't remain an "unknown" artist if she continues to capture audiences like she did on Monday night, February 4, in Stetson's Coffee House. A "standing room only" record was broken when some 125 students and faculty gathered in the Coffee House and even the hallway in order to hear her "neoteric" music. She and her bass accompanist, Peter Deakman, performed a combination of original numbers composed by Louise as well as some creative arrangements of oldies such as "Since I Fell for You." She promised the audience she had no real "love" for cowboys even though she sang a couple of ballads about them. However, her version of "Even Cowgirls Get the Blues" will be used as the theme song for an upcoming new movie from a novel by the same name. The crowd roared with laughter over her theme song entitled "Ice Cream," which called for a few mellow numbers to calm everyone down. Besides charming the audience with her beautiful personality and voice, she entertained them with a few jokes and anecdotes from her life and career thus far. Louise and Peter were rewarded by a warm and sincere standing ovation concluding both halves of the performance.

And Abroad

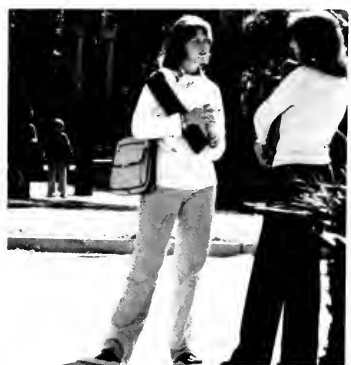

Student life not only encompasses activities on campus, but also gives students many opportunities to travel abroad. A group of Stetson students had the opportunity to travel to Europe and study at the Université de Neuchâtel in Neuchâtel, Switzerland. The students receive a certificate of proficiency in French from the Swiss Government, providing they all pass their exams.

Each one of the students enjoyed their adventure, bringing back souvenirs and memories that will make this trip an unforgettable one. They would like to express their gratitude to all that made the trip a success, both here and abroad.

Students participating in trip abroad: Blackford, B. Jr.; Bullock, B. Jr.; Dudeck, C. Sr.; Dixon, B. Jr.; Haywood, S. Jr.; Pasak, P. Sr.; Whitley, E. K., Jr.; Workum, K. Jr.; Wurth, M. Jr.; Corcoran, J. Jr. Director of Program: Dr. Elsie Minter

Fifteen years from now we will not remember everything we have been taught at Stetson, but some things are more likely to stay with us than others. What have we really been learning at Stetson? Despite our different majors, our various schedules, and our ages, many of us have been exposed to new views. We have learned from each other that life is composed of things that are strange to us, as well as things we find familiar. Those differences taught us a great deal. We have grown to look beyond our own attitudes for fresh ideas. At Stetson, we have been learning about life.

Learning at Stetson

The Art of Communication

We began communicating. It was a language of sound that we taught our parents, enabling them to provide for our needs. When we learned to speak we were better able to ask for those things we wanted. As we perfected our conversation, we learned workable ways to persuade and convince others to see things as we did.

College is a studio where we can be our own clay as well as our own artist. We form our lifestyles and our futures. An important art we practice is the one of communication. Talking and listening to others is the art in action.

All the World's . . .

More than twelve nights of casting and rehearsal paid off for Stetson's drama department in their presentation of William Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. Staged three nights in a row, the play was almost completely directed by the student actors, according to Director Marjorie Gilbert, which is quite an accomplishment with a Shakespearean work. The serious theme of the blind romantic love of Orsino for Olivia, was pleasantly contrasted by the humorous character of Feste, the court jester.

The performance of these characters was greatly supported by the rest of the cast. With more than six hundred productions already under its belt, the Stover Theatre Company will add several more to the list as this season's schedule included such plays as Li'L Abner, Fantasticks, and All My Sons.

. . . a Stage

Homecoming 1980 was one of the most thrilling weekends here at Stetson. There were many activities planned for the weekend. On Friday, the Mad Hatter Ball was held at the Holiday Inn Surfside in Daytona Beach. The dance started at 9:00 p.m. and lasted long into the morning.

The dance featured a band from Orlando called "Ricky and Tightrope". The six piece band played the "Top 40 Hits" and entertained the students with an excellent show. At eleven o'clock, the most anticipated moment of the evening arrived — the announcing of the 1980 Homecoming King and Queen. The 1980 King and Queen were Charlie Mullinger and Denise Wike, the first runners-up were Todd Williams and Donna Pagano.

The weekend continued with the constant activities for the Alumni and Students. These scheduled events included seminars, and luncheons. Friday afternoon, the Stetson Varsity Baseball Team played the Alumni and provided us with an entertaining afternoon of baseball. Needless to say the Hatters defeated the Alumni with a 13-1 victory.

On Saturday, the festivities continued with more seminars and a Bar-B-Que lunch in the Forest of Arden. The highlight of the afternoon was the Homecoming Parade. The parade started at the Edmunds Center and proceeded down N. Woodland Blvd. into the heart of town. The day's weather also attributed to the beauty of the floats. Winners of the float competition were: second place to the business fraternity Alpha Kappa Psi; and first place went to the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity. The first place winner of the car competition was the Girl's Tennis Team.

Saturday evening was the spine-tingling moment of Homecoming Weekend. Stetson Hatters played a superb game of basketball against Oral Roberts. The Hatters defeated Oral Roberts 81-75 with a crowd of 5,837 delighted Homecoming fans watching.

The high scorer of the game was Wilbur Montgomery with 20 points and nine rebounds. Brad Weston exemplified the talent of an outstanding basketball player. His quickness and expertise of handling the ball helped to push the Hatters ahead to keep the lead and go on for the victory. Along with Weston, Montgomery, and Johnson, the rest of the Hatter players proved to the fans that our team sticks together and goes for the win!

The fans were behind the Hatters all the way, anticipating a win however knowing that at any point the Hatters may lose the game. Spirit was the number one aspect of Saturday's game. Spirit from the Alumni, students, and other patrons kept the Hatters fighting right down to the last seconds of the game.

. . . and neither do the opportunities to get involved on Stetson's campus. Deland is only a deadland if you don't participate in the calendar full of events planned for students. The residence hall staff persons plan everything from halloween parties (at which they raid the dorms of the opposite sex) to big dates at "Date-n-Skate", and from Bible studies to dorm demonstrations. Music School colleagues provide the student with numerous concerts throughout the year — and with a wide enough variety to please every taste.

Students at Stover Theatre stage several great plays during the nine months including the student-created, student-directed night of comedy. You can grab a snack at the Wednesday night Happy Hour, or see a favorite flick on Friday night in the Stetson Room. You can join an organization that reaches out to help the community or one that makes life more fun for fellow students. Whether it be getting involved in a fraternity or sorority, or making a goal to make it to every concert, basketball and soccer game played on campus, there is a world out there for every student to enjoy — and the fun never ends.

'79 Season Considered A "Building Year"

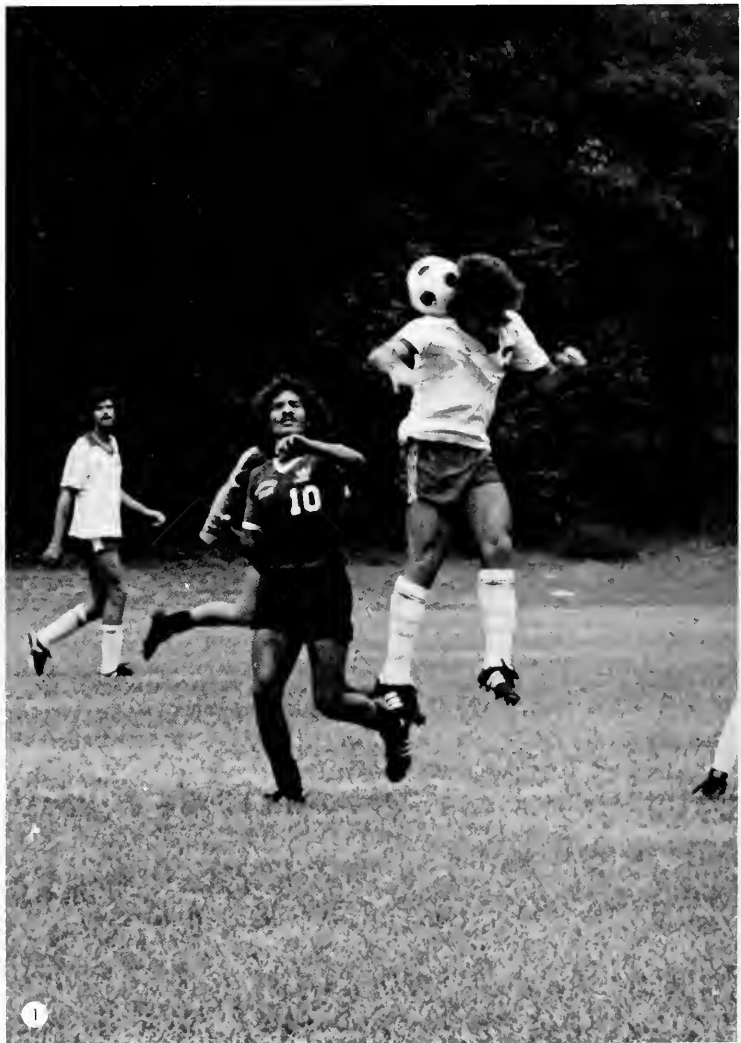

"A building year" was the term coach Gil Dominguez used for his 1979-1980 soccer season. Characterized by a young team and a new coach the soccer team based their year on improvement.

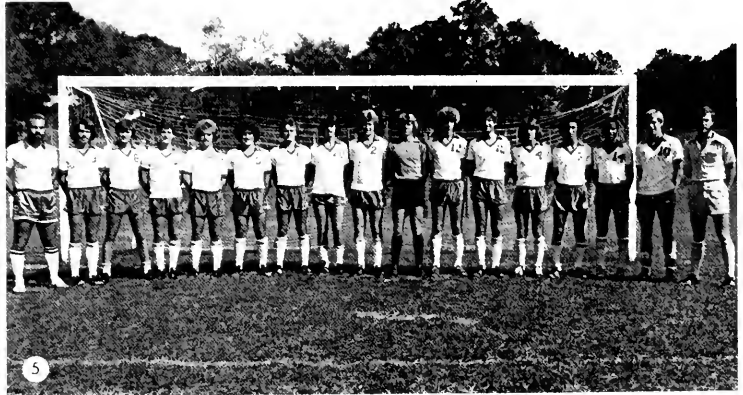

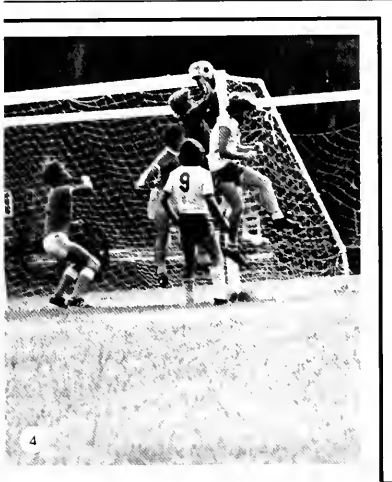

Coach Gil Dominguez came to Stetson from DeLand High School where he has taught soccer for the past six years. He was named Volusia County's Coach of the Year in 1978 and led his high school team to the top ten in Florida. Dominguez stressed very strict rules on his players and made sure that he used his team to their fullest extent. There were only eighteen players on this year's team and each of these had plenty of playing time.

Stetson's best contest was a shutout against Palm Beach Atlantic College where they broke an old record of most goals scored in one match. The final outcome was 10-0.

Coach Dominguez says next years team will be experienced and he guarantees a better win-loss record.

1. Vince Accardi shows the talent of Stetson by heading the ball away from his opponent.

1. Another defensive play by Eddie Fitzgerald. 2. Pregame strategies are discussed by Stetson. 3. Timing is of the essence, and Cary Cox has it under control. 4. Hatters Go To The N.B.A.

The Hatter Basketball team was quick and experienced this year with its ten returning lettermen and four newcomers holding the team together. Dirk Ewing, Glen Wilkes Jr., Brad Weston, and Jim Ramsey led the backcourt while Greg Guye, Wilber Montgomery, and Corky Corzine saw the frontcourt for the hats.

Two of this years outstanding players, Dirk Ewing and Greg Guye, were drafted by the NBA's Indiana Pacers. Both men's shooting capabilities and defensive action were a great asset to the Stetsen team. Wilber Montgomery's muscles and Derrick McDowell's legs put the team on top. The Hatters had a new dimension this year as they battled new opponents including top ranked Ohio State, Oral Roberts, and Marquette in their twenty seven game slate.

Greg Guye defies gravity for another Hatter Basket.

Experience And Dedication Help Lady Hats

The 1979-80 basketball season was the most exciting ever for the Stetson Hatters, who had their top three scorers and rebounders returning from last year.

Sophomore point guard Donna Johnson as last years leading scorer and MVP returned. Also, lending experience to the Hatter ranks were junior guard Brenda Elrod, senior forward Debbie Toole, junior Trina Hudson, and sophomore Janet Hudson, were relied on to provide leadership and experience.

Five newcomers took the court for the Hatters this season, led by high school teammates Karen Louaglio and Diane Hayes. They were joined by junior forwards Terry White and Theresa King. Rounding out the Hatter squad is transfer Tracey Byer, a sophomore guard. Intense play was needed by the Lady Hatters in 1979-80, as they again faced the top Florida schools and some tough out-of-state competition. In addition to Mercer, University of Miami, Flagler, and South Florida, the new schedule had additions like N.C. State, UNC, College of Charleston, and Yale to contend with. "We are an improved team this year," quoted Coach Jordan, "because we have to make use of the experience of the past year, and a lot of dedication, contribution, and execution." The Hatters looked to surpass the .500 mark for the upcoming campaign.

1. Going up strong for the layup is Diane Hayes.

Jeanne Rowzee moves the ball toward the basket. 2. A lost contact delayed the latter match against the Lady Titans. 3. Against strong opposition Karen Lovaglio throws downcourt. 4. Top Teams Battle In Hatter Classic

It was another exciting year for DeLand as the Hatters hosted the 15th Annual Hatter Classic. All four teams that began the tournament had winning records and proved their strength in the Edmunds Center. Two games were played each night with the championship match on the final night.

The midshipmen from the U.S. Naval Academy met against the Engineers of Lehigh in the opening game. Navy was just too tough upsetting the Engineers in a close battle. The host Hatters vied against the Houston Baptist Huskies with the Huskies winning with their outstanding shooting ability.

On the second night Stetson and Lehigh battled in a consolation match with the Hatters coming out on top placing third in the Classic. Navy overran the Huskies winning the championship Classic title.

1. Coach Glen Wilkes explains the final winning play of the game. 2. A strong layup is executed by Derrick McDowell. 3. Pregame warmup was an important part of the Hatter's strategy.

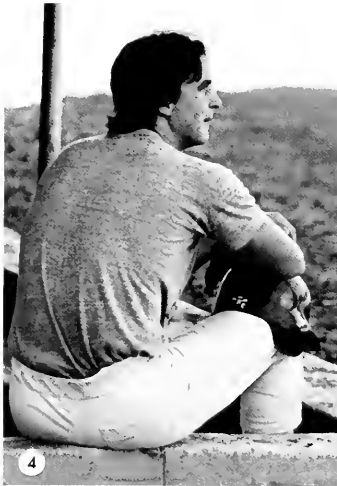

Miss Hatter Crowned

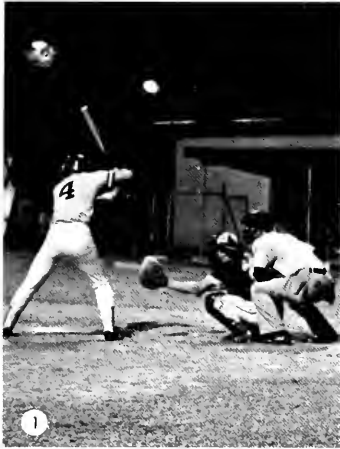

It was not just an ordinary basketball game-it was special. It was the annual Miss Hatter crowning. After weeks of preliminary judging the following girls were picked as finalists: Nancy Cordell, Luane Iezzi, Suzi Stroud, and Laura Watson. The girls paraded around the floor during halftime as the judges made their final decision. As the crowd hushed the final decision was announced "51st runner up - Miss Laura Watson and the 1980 Miss Hatter queen - Miss Luane Iezzi." The crowd roared as President Pope Duncan and Mrs. Duncan presented the girls with their trophies and flowers.

1. The Queen's Court: Miss Luane Iezzi and Laura Watson. 2. President Pope Duncan and Mrs. Duncan give queen Luane Iezzi their congratulations. 3. Congratulations to the 1980 Miss Hatter and her court!

1. Louis Stawarz grounds another pitch into the plate. 2. The Dugout is a cool place to rest during Spring Training. 3. Dave Miller hits a long ball. 4. Awaiting his turn on the field is Shane O'Shea. 5. Mark Zaleski tests the pitcher with one of his fine leads.

1. During a night game Brad Cloud awaits his turn to slam one home. 2. Louis Stawarz dives back to first as Jim Fry looks on. 3. Mike Bergmann throws another fast ball.

Looking To A Winning Decade

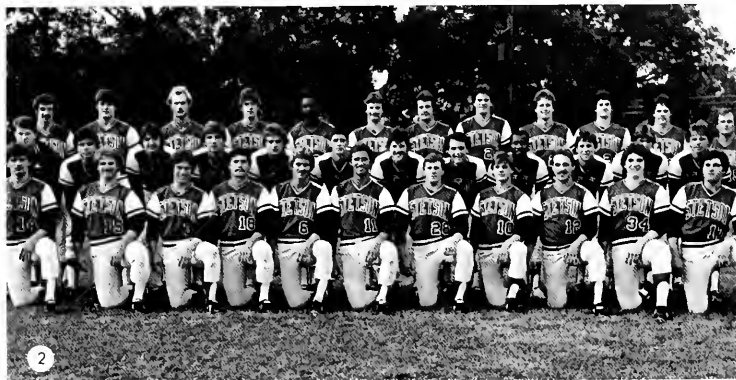

The 1979 - 1980 Baseball season lent an optimistic look into the future. With a new coach and a great depth of players the Hatters started a new decade of wins. The team had a fifty six game schedule facing such rivals as Rollins, Florida Southern, University of Miami, and Georgia Southern.

Stetson gained coach Pete Dunn to fill last year's coach Jim Ward's position. Coach Dunn gained all of the players respect and produced a winning attitude among his players. The team had good solid starters with a new depth in the pitching staff. The staff was bolstered by an influx of junior college transfers such as Mike Hamilton, Mike Bergman, Brad Fraley and Jerry Costigan. The three senior captains for the year were Joe Ostermann, Tyrone Tinsley and Al Guerra.

The team was supported by enthusiastic Bat Girls who devoted much time and efforts to the team and their opponents.

1. Slugger Dave Miller cocks for the pitch.

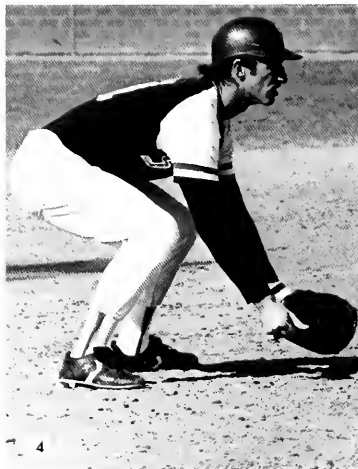

1. Former hurler Rick Hall returns as a student coach. 2. 1. Senior John Tucker sends back an opponents serve. 2. Phil White sends another ball over the net. 3. The opponents couldn't stop Scott Hunter's ability. 4. VARSITY TENNIS: Phil White, John Joiner, Scott Hunter, Scott Kiefer, Kevin Weiberg, Coach Ray Hussey, Chris Chrissberry, John Tucker, Craig Kettles, Brian Miklas 5. Keeping his opponent running John Tucker sends back a slam to the opposite corner.

Tennis Team Takes New Image

The 1980 mens tennis squad showed their rivals a new image this year. Led by avid tennis player Coach Ray Hussey the team struggled through another tough year but greatly improved over last year. "The team has depth," exclaimed sophomore star John Joiner "we have the skills and ability." The team lost last year's number one man, Casey Dagenhardt, but retained senior starters John Tucker and Mark Siegal. Sophomores John Joiner, Chris Chrisenberry and Phil White all pulled the team together with their dynamic strength. The team was also fortunate to gain Scott Hunter, Florida State High School Champion, to fill the gaps where needed. The team faced such rivals as U.S. Air Force Academy, Florida Southern, Rollins, and their new rival University of Tampa.

1. John Joiner sends a smashing serve to his opponent.

Weight Room Helps Hatter Tennis

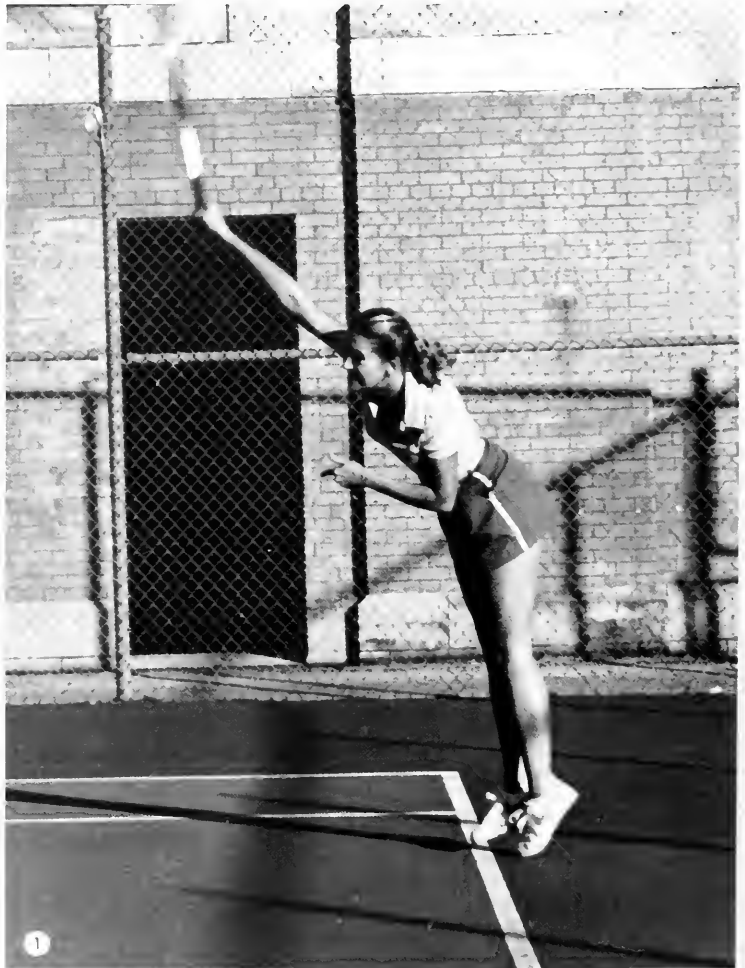

Freshman took the court for the Lady Hatters tennis team this year. Sparked with six new, experienced players the Lady Hats had another triumphant season.

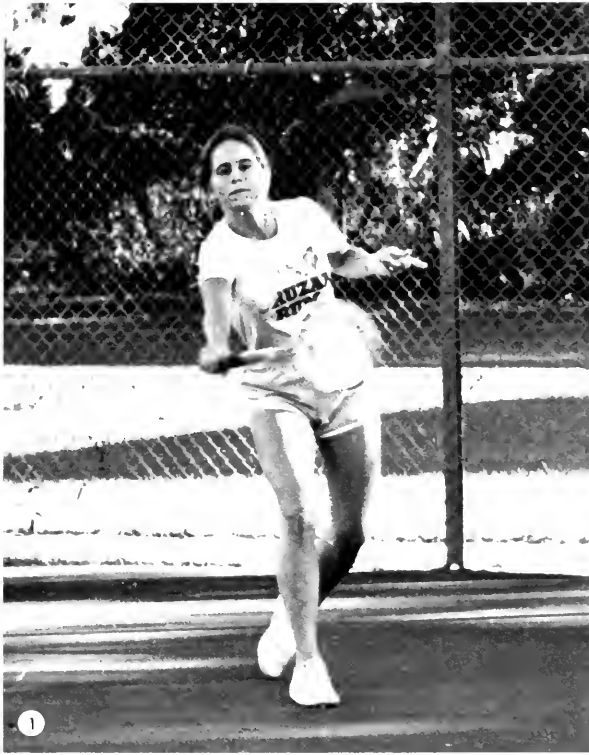

Led by returning seniors Joan Kreider, and Sue Overvold, junior Patty Nagle, and sophomore Beth Schneider, the girls tennis team built towards another national team.

Freshman players Laurie Bentz, Robin Cornell, Beth Wait, Lorna Lindquist, Peggy Scheb and Kathy Womack all added their own talent to the Stetson team.

Coached by avid tennis player Vicky Pate the girls were required to work out on the Nautilus weight training equipment each day to tone muscles and build up stamina. Coach Pate is a graduate of the University of Miami and led the 1978-79 Hatters through the state and regional championships then on to Denver where they placed fifth nationally in the Small College Division. Coach Pate looked at a good season this year, but she promises for an even better one next.

1. Peggy Scheb sends a smashing serve to her opponent.

1. Exhibiting her excellent backhand is Lorna Lindquist. 2. Short discussions during practice helped the team iron out mistakes. 3. Joan Kreider protects the net. 4. Bottom. Peggy Scheb, Kathy Womack, Lorna Lindquist! Top: Joan Kreider, Sue Overvold, Beth Schneider, Beth Wait, Robin Cornell and Coach Vicky Pate.

Young Team Takes To The Green

Stetson Golf team was a young group after losing its four senior members. The team relied on the strength of Sophomore Steve Todd, Junior Mark Hartfield, and freshman Buster Hunt and Kevin Lawrence to fill their shoes.

The team placed 8th in the Miami Sun and Fun Intercollegiate Tournament with Steve Todd having the best round for the entire field for all three days. In the Florida State Championship Stetson gained a reputation of the Best Non-scholarship team in the state.

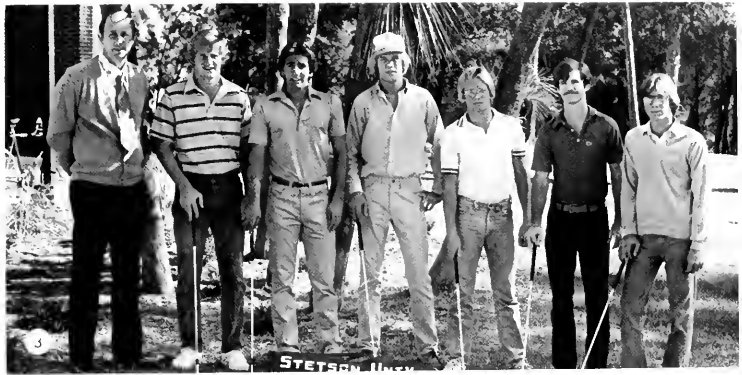

Coached by Mr. Bob Weickel the team practiced everyday and kept a very difficult schedule. The team faced such schools as Rollins College, Central Florida, and University of Miami. Stetson fielded a young team this year but look for years to come.

1. Perfect form produces a long drive for Steve Todd.

Crowds Have More To Cheer For

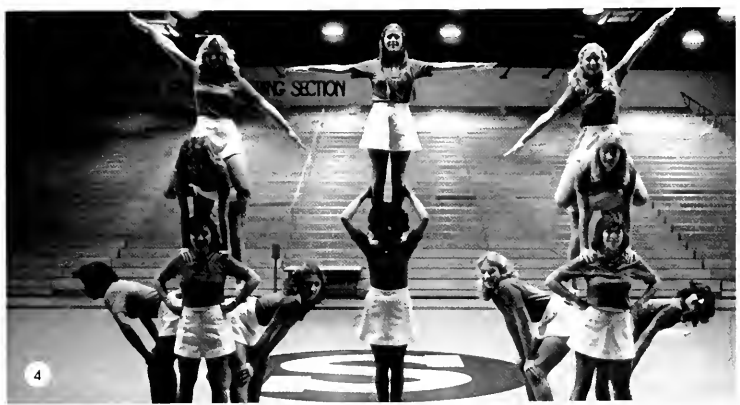

Stetson crowds have more to cheer for as the twelve woman squad lead the school in spirit. Practicing three times a week, the cheerleaders have really made a name for themselves. They cheered for soccer, girls basketball, and boys basketball.

Tryouts were held in the fall, adding five to the seven veterans. They traveled to away games within the area and continued to exude enthusiasm through the season.

Their impressive cheers, including towering stances and lively steps, were real crowd pleasers.

1. Jackie Inglesias and Beth Cantly devise a new move. 2. Practicing her new cheer is Raison Lee. 3. Hard work pays off in the final cheer. 4 Bottom - Sheila O'Neal, Michelle Discanio, Jackie Inglesias, Pam Williams, Susie Stones, Susie Stroud, Raison Lee Middle - Diane Sides, Kathy Nielander, Top - Beth Cantly, Rhonda Harrel, Lori Chadborne. 5. V-I-C-T-O-R-Y cheer was always a favorite.

1. Another touchdown pass is caught by Joe North. 2. Laura Duke looks downfield for one of her receivers. 3. Crowd support was needed for each intramural team. 4. The "Hearts Club" serve another powerful ball. 5. The "Pikes" defend another "Lamb" spike. 6. Referee Rob Tannella explains another penalty.

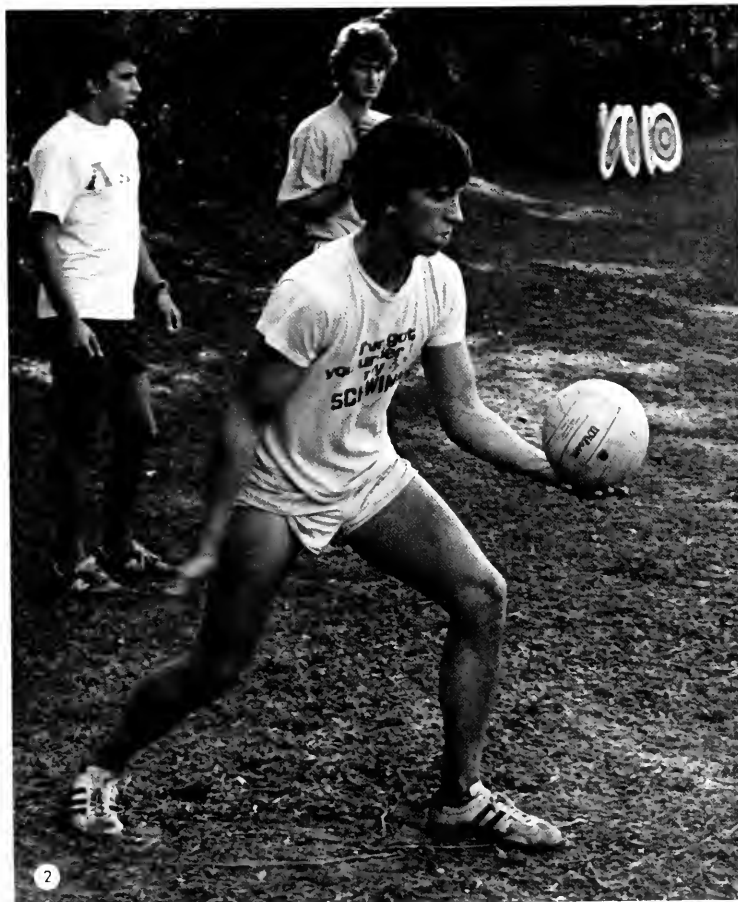

Turnout Sparks Improvement

The Intramural program this year was the best of many. Each dorm along with fraternities, sororities, and ministries fielded teams for the intramural sports.

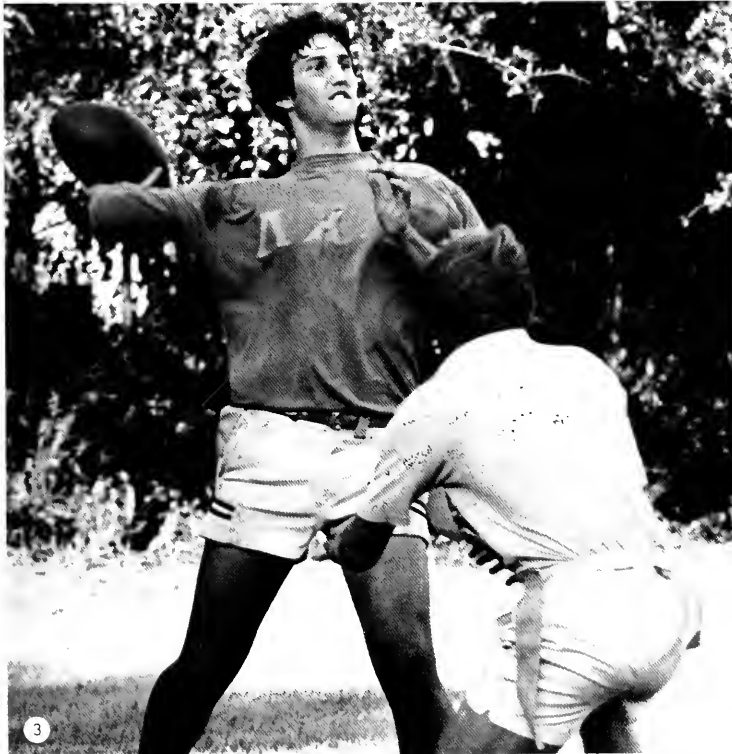

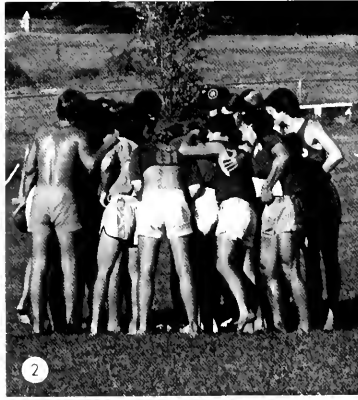

Each afternoon one could find the teams competing against each other in sports such as football, volleyball, basketball, and swimming. The men's teams fought for the President's Cup while the women fought for the All Points trophy.

1. Along with competition there were also a few laughs during girl's ping-pong. 2. Concentrating on his serve, Pete Balise plans another score.

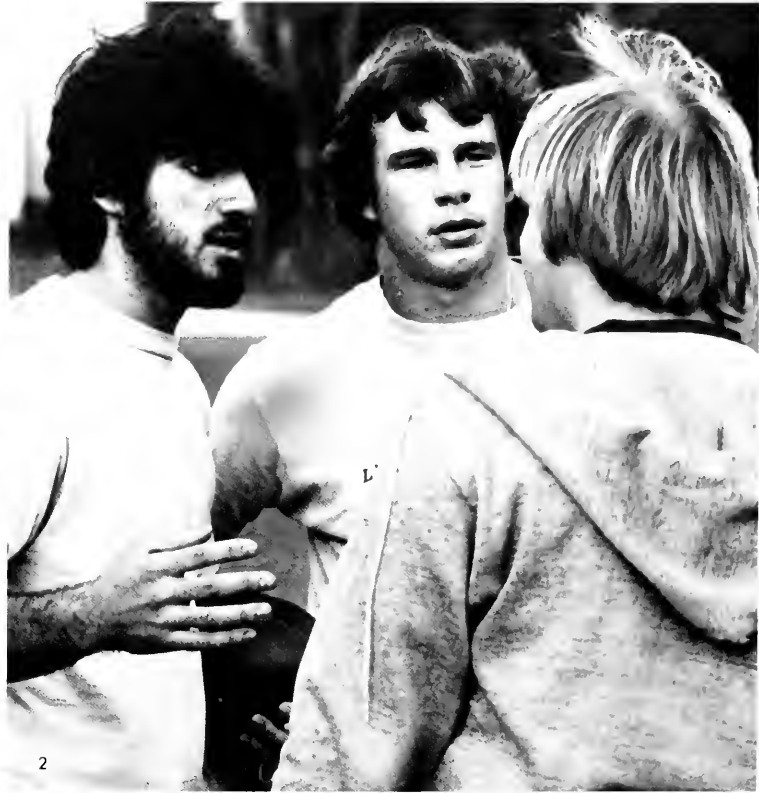

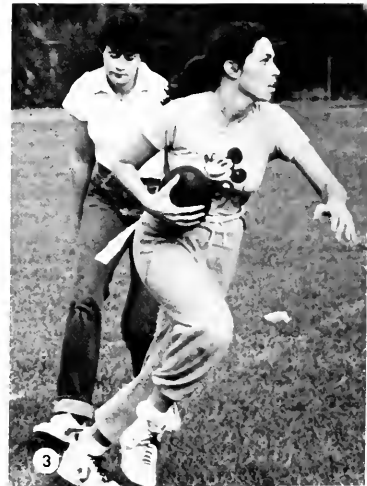

1. Pregame strategies are a must for the INDIE team. 2. The Little sisters always supported their team. 3. The return was an important part of men's ping-pong. 4. A perfect run by Chris Mitchell is ended by her opponent. 5. Bob Martin attempts another pass for a touchdown. 6. The center is an important element for a strong team.

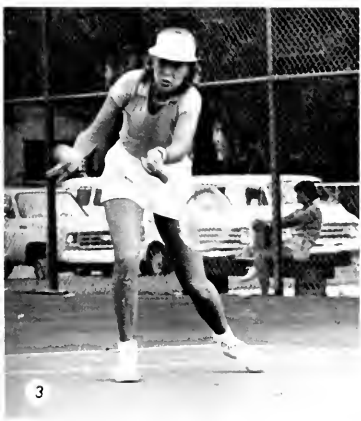

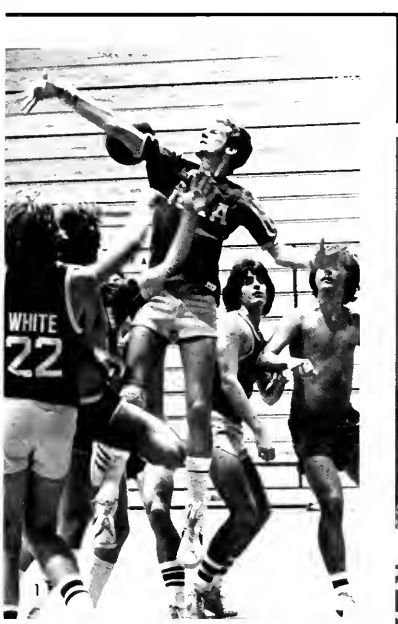

1. A long serve scores another point for the CCM. 2. The champion Pi Kappas finalize pregame strategies. 3. Marc Beaumont throws another long pass. 4. The "SPIKE" scored the most points in volleyball.

1. Mike Timoshuck prepares for a foul shot. 2. Explaining their referee duties for the day is Jon Stage. 3. Sweeping to the right is Mary Gatins for a touchdown.

1. Joe Hill blocks another off-campus shot. 2. Pregame practice is executed by the INDIES. 3. Debbie Kun sends back a smashing save. 4. Womens Intramural Committee: Front row: D. Meyer, D. Toland, L. Duke, C. Evans, Second Row: Mrs. S. Raborn, M. Gorman, R. Martin, M. Love, C. Pinder, Back Row: B. Clinton, P. Kamps, C. Frechette, E. Taylor. 5. INTRAMURAL COMMITTEE: Ken Michals, Tony Lovallo, Doug Laseter, Coach Weikel, Alan Beck, Robert Tanella.

Scola, V., Dr. David, Penge, S., Mr. Heckel, Figlioli, K., Green, B., Evans, C., Sawon, N., Simonson, D., Prince, Y., Carlson, S., Miller, K., Johnson, J., Jones, C., Bollinger, A., Unterbrink, B., Davidson, T., Weber, C., Fox, D., Komescher, P., Ingham, F., Van Norden, J., Schutz, A., Webster, D., Green, C., Kenfield, J.

Publication Board

Keeping tabs on the latest techniques and editions, Stetson's Publication Board reviewed copy and shared ideas from the staffs of the Stetson HATTER, REPORTER, and LITRACHUR. Meeting bi-weekly, this board consists of the editor, business manager and representative from these three publications.

Lubbers, M., Dr. Crain, Green, B., Karrer, M., Scarce, R., Fox, D., Marlowe, J., Wike, D.

The REPORTER

Stetson's REPORTER was never better than this year's publication,

1979-80. For this weekly newspaper contained the feelings of the students and covered major events including sports and academics. Under the direction of Rik Scarce, editor, the REPORTER turned out exceptionally well, providing the students with a great campus newspaper.

M. DeVenoge, R. McCormick, M. Karres, B. Pokorney, P. Waters, B. Clemmons, R. Scarce, C. Rice, J. Bonnell, S. Evans, J. Negron, J. Messersmith, B. Unterbrink, R. Reedgrim, B. McFarland, R. Hunt.

American Chemical Society

The American Chemical Society is a social organization open to all chemistry students. Stetson's A.C.S. is a student affiliate chapter of the world's largest organization. Stetson was given its charter in the early '70's. It enabled them to receive help in placement for employment after graduation. The A.C.S. is an organization that strives for both excellence in chemistry yet affording the student a social life.

D. Erdman, K. Hager, T. Posa, D. Meinholtz, S. Kulik, M. Erickson, J. Bergstrom, D. Welch, M. Digney, G. Wynn, C. Bitondo.

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta is the history honorary organization. The honorary organization is open to those students who have taken at least 12 hours of history and have a 3.5 grade point average. Each year a delegate is chosen from the students and sent to a national convention. The students are actively involved in public and world political affairs.

K. Allen, D. Tode, G. Wynn, J. Hodgins, R. Russell, R. Martin, L. Oliver, J. Cohen, K. O'Keith, E. Johnson, Dr. Wynn, A. Ventura, J. Rowzee, A. Groves, C. Turner

Gamma Sigma Epsilon

Gamma Sigma Epsilon is an academic honorary organization for all chemistry students who have taken over 14 hours of credit in Chemistry. Gamma Sigma Epsilon has been in existence at Stetson since 1930. The students of this organization strive for academic excellence and hope to inspire others through their tutoring program.

G. Wynn, M. Digney, M. Erickson, S. Kulik, T. Posa, J. Bergstrom, D. Scott, S. Schilling.

Chaudoin

Charm fills Chaudoin as these girls host Holiday parties such as Halloween's scariest and sexiest witch contests. Christmas skits and open house. The year's street dance, hayride, and roller skating parties make for wall-to-wall folks and ear-to-ear smiles. Featuring two guest speakers, Chaudoin hosted a seminar on Communism and the war.

Brown, D., Murphy, K., Edmondson, M., Dobratz, S., Bolondo, C., Nelson, J., Ventura, A., Wilson, B., Burnett, K., Phillips, K., Harper, C., Ahrens, C., Frechette, C., Correa, E.

Conrad

A fun-filled year was on the agenda for the folks at Conrad Hall as progressive dinners competed tubing and pool parties with Gordis and New Men's Halls. Everyone's welcome at this dorm as the Valentine's Day dance sent feet tapping and hearts thumping. Scholarship was also promoted as study rooms were renovated and an Iranian Crisis lecture was hosted featuring Ambassador Minor as the guest speaker.

Collins, G., Glynn, M., Cotter, A., Jackson, L., Kautsky, J., Babey, S., Wilcox, P., Clemons, B., Millean, D., Mobley, S., Mobley, L.

Emily

Adventure was the name of the game for Emily dwellers as the year's events featured twenty-five foot banana splits, and pickle-eating contests with special guest chower, Kemper Smith, where halls competed for the first annual Emily Cup Award. Long hours of toil and trouble over mini-mester produced a beautifully decorated basement. Added attractions included a Halloween party, Christmas party Guitar skit night and a novel staff meeting at Otis's.

Gatje, D., Patterson, D., Dee, J., Metz, M., Taylor, S., Brumfield, B., Lauer, M., Crosby, K., Schultz, L., Weber, C., Sargent, R., Spriggs, L.

Stetson

Heading the agenda for Stetson Hall's events were Greenfeather's Dating Game and carnival booth, "The Hitching Post." Dances were a favorite as Stetson Sponsored one with Gordis Hall and another for Leap year on February 29th. A novel event to be long-remembered was the Film Festival before fall exam week where 24-hour visitation crowded the lobby with nostalgic visitors.

Sindy, B., Cortes, C., Carlson, S., Hinckley, S., Uhl, L., Kells, D., Urban, J., Langley, M., Robinson, D., Phillips, M., Walker, A., Berry, L., Cave, C., Jones, C., Sloss, K., Jobson, M., Kemna, A., Drake, M., Adams, M., Petrie, L., Wink, S.

Carson Hall

There was a new added feature to Carson Hall as a result of hard work during this year. They turned the basement of the dorm into a Health Club. So we were all able to tell which guys lived in Carson Hall.

The residents of this hall also participated in an inner dorm competition for a coveted Carson Cup.

Vinson, C., Durland, M., Sherman, R., Baade, S., Best, R., Curran, G.,

Gordis Hall

This has been a year of renovation for Gordis Hall. They painted the halls, fixed up the lounges, and built swings out in front of the dorm for the residents to enjoy. The addition of central air condition helped to cool everything down.

Gordis and Delta Delta Delta enjoy a "Clam Bake" at the St. Johns river and ate a lot of good seafood. Canoes were available to those who wanted to brave the water (some even dared the water without canoes), and others played football.

Gordis Hall Staff Oliver, W., Williams, T., Kraus, K., Spurlock, S., Hass, S., Bulone, J., Bauer, K., Rust, J., Paulk, K., Johnson, D., Herr, M., Helton, R.

New Men's Hall

New Men's Hall worked hard to redo many areas of their dorm. They painted the halls, made study rooms, and astro turfed the stairs. They are in the process of creating an auto mechanics center that the whole school will be able to use. They also held two school wide dances and sponsored candidates in Homecoming and Greenfeather.

Balakanis, J., Andrews, A., Kettles, C., Onek, B., Walters, J., Tucker, J., Stage, J.,

Smith Hall

As for most of the other dorms, this too, was a year of redecorating for Smith Hall. All the halls and most of the room were painted. Several of the lounges were converted into study areas with carpet and study carrols and one was turned into a comfortable TV room. The addition of a patio with barbecue grills enabled the dorm to have steak cookouts with womens dorms and in honor of the baseball team.

editor's

To represent one year at Stetson University, distinct from any other time or place, was the initial goal of the 1980 HATTER staff. To this we added professionalism, wide coverage, student appeal, and a spring delivery date to our already high aspiration; but even this was not all. We intended to produce a yearbook that would transcend the college years of those students it contained. A yearbook that would find its real usefulness after ten or fifteen years; when it would help us to recall the happy years of our youth.

We can consider the seventies our first decade of maturity. During this time, we have seen much of how the world continues to evolve through conflict and tension. Issues, such as equality, political asylum and oil distribution have taken world-wide importance. We have seen the effects of fallen power in the overthrowing of Iran's Shah. We have recently seen the renewed power of our own American democracy against the threats of the third world. The decade was opened with indecisions. American reactions to the coup in Afganistan brought the decision that the 1980 Olympics would be held in Moscow without the participation of the U.S. team. The race for the Presidency began its first lap with Republican and Democratic hopefuls positioning for the nomination by their respective parties. The decision to reinstate the selective service was announced. The question of how women would fit into this selecting was one brought out through the strongly debated Equal Rights Amendment.

With all this around us, we also managed to struggle with our own conflicts and tensions, coming closer to the decisions that would direct our proceeding years. If 1980 can mark for us a new decade, then we must now think ahead to where we will be in the next ten years. Use this book then, to look back at where we were.

I would like to thank my staff, especially Randy Brennen, for their time and talents. A special thank you to Dr. Brad Crain, who could never understand how important it was to me that he accept the position as advisor. My admiration and respect for him was a constant motivation to have a yearbook published that he would find satisfactory. Also, hundreds of thank yous go to Jayne Marlowe for the hundreds of things she did over the year for myself and the 1980 HATTER. The staff would like to thank LCT Wehrle and the ROTC program for providing a yearbook room and for their continued cooperation. I would like to thank Allen Rosenburg, our company representative, for being a good friend, as well as a good counselor. I would also like to thank Stetson for the opportunity of working on this book and for my years at this University.

Finally, I would like to thank God for my life and for the book; both I have personally dedicated to him. Without his love, I could have never found the strength to complete this year.

Enjoy.

"Just as each individual is unique in character and personality, so is an institution of higher learning. Just as an individual has a certain value system and a life directed by certain goals and objectives, so does an institution of higher learning. The character of Stetson University is to be found in its expressed values, goals and purposes. All students, friends, and employees have a vested interest in the character of Stetson University. All have helped and continue to help shape its character." PHILOSOPHY OF REGULATIONS
